

M.Staķis no 2021.gada rudens līdz 2022.gada vasarai piedalījās Bloomberg Philanthropies un Hārvardas universitātes pilsētu mēru programmā "Bloomberg Harvard City Leadership Initiative", kurā katru gadu uzņem apmēram 40 pilsētu mērus no visas pasaules. Līdz šim Bloomberg Philanthropies ir investējis 700 pilsētās no 150 valstīm visā pasaulē. Organizācija koncentrējas uz piecām galvenajām jomām ilgstošu pārmaiņu radīšanai: māksla, izglītība, vide, pārvaldības inovācijas un sabiedrības veselība. Bloomberg Philanthropies ietver visu Maikla R.Blūmberga ziedojumus, tostarp viņa fondu, korporatīvo un personīgo filantropiju, kā arī Bloomberg Associates, pro bono konsultāciju uzņēmumu, kas darbojas ar pilsētām visā pasaulē. 2022. gadā Bloomberg Philanthropies 2022.gadā dažādos atbalstos ieguldīja 1,7 miljardus ASV dolāru. M.Staķa dalība mēra kvalifikācijas celšanā tika segta no Bloomberg Philanthropies budžeta.

Programma tika atklāta 18.augustā 2021.gadā tiešsaistē satiekoties visiem mēriem ar mācītbspēkiem.

Septembrī bija klātienē mācības visiem mēriem Ņujorkā, kurās piedalījās arī programmas izveidotājs un atbalstītājs Maikls. R.Blūmbergs.

Tālāk līdz 2023.gada jūnijam katru mēnesi bija tiešsaistes nodarbības ar Hārvardas pasniedzējiem un pēc programmas pabeigšanas Mārtiņš Staķis saņēma sertifikātu par mācību programmas absolvēšanu un iekļūšanu Bloomberg City Leaders Alumni tīklā. Vairāk info:

- 9:30–10:50 a.m. Teaming Across Sectors
Amy Edmondson
Novartis Professor of Leadership and Management, Harvard Business School

A discussion about teaming across sectors to learn, innovate, and solve problems in the face of uncertainty.

PREPARATION:

- Please read “The 2010 Chilean Mining Rescue (A)”
- While reading the case, please consider the following questions:
 - Why was the rescue considered close to impossible at the outset?
 - What allowed the miners to survive, physically and psychologically, until they were found?
 - What problem(s) did President Piñera and Minister of Mining, Laurence Golborne need to solve? What strategies and actions did they employ?
 - What leadership behaviors and project strategies helped Andre Souggaret and others on the rescue team accomplish the impossible?
 - What, if any, parallels do you see between this case and the challenges that you face in your city’s priorities? What might be the lessons for public sector leaders from the Chilean rescue experience?

10:50-11:10 a.m. Break

11:10 a.m.-12:30 p.m. Teaming to Problem-Solve and Innovate
Amy Edmondson

In our session, you will be asked to reflect on your relationships with your own senior teams, and with other relevant leaders in your governments. A primary emphasis in this session is the role of interpersonal dynamics in inhibiting or enabling decision making and innovation that spans boundaries.

PREPARATION:

- Please read "Wicked Problem Solvers: Lessons from Successful Cross-Industry Teams"
- While reading the case, please consider the following questions:
 - Consider your current priorities. Which of these priorities involve reasonably straightforward solutions if resources are available to implement them? Which ones may qualify as "wicked" problems (those without known solutions, or with incomplete, contradictory, or shifting criteria)?
 - If possible, pick one of each: How you are currently approaching each priority? Who is, or could be, leading each effort?
 - What do you find most challenging in terms of exercising leadership with regard to each priority?
 - What can you do, going forward, to enable progress on these key priorities?

12:30-1:45 p.m. Lunch

1:45-3:05 p.m. Cross-boundary Collaboration I
Jan Rivkin
C. Roland Christensen Professor of Business Administration, Harvard Business School

In order to tackle big problems and deliver on key mayoral priorities, city government often depends on effective collaboration with the private and non-profit sectors. This session explores the challenges and opportunities associated with engaging other sectors in social problem-solving.

PREPARATION:

- Please read "Columbus Partnership"
- While reading the case, please consider the following questions:
 - Is Columbus a successful city? What impresses you? What concerns you the most?
 - What accounts for the Columbus Way? Will it last?
 - Should the Columbus Partnership continue to try to improve education in Columbus or go back to other areas where it has been successful? If the Partnership goes forward with education, how should it change its approach?

3:05-3:25 p.m. Break

3:25-4:45 p.m. Cross-boundary Collaboration II
Jan Rivkin

In this session, we will examine the barriers to collaborative efforts and how to overcome those barriers over time.

PREPARATION:

- Please read "Collaborating for Youth Development in Hartford"
- While reading the case, please consider the following questions:
 - How did civic leaders in Hartford wind up in such a mess?
 - Looking back, what should individuals have done differently?
 - Looking forward, what should they do next? In particular, how should they find a director for YO Hartford
